Russian Teacher Injured in Plunge From Consulate

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—A Russian woman teacher flung herself from a third floor window of the Russian consulate today and tonight told a friend from her hospital bed, "I had to get out."

The teacher, Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, 52, lay critically injured in Roosevelt hospital. Her dramatic mid-afternoon leap climaxed an amazing story with international ramifications.

Police at the hospital said she told them she had jumped deliberately.

Later she asked that a White Russian (anti-Communist) friend, Dmitri Zenzinov, be brought to her bedside.

Police took him to the hospital and as he left, he told newsmen she said:

"I was struggling to break out. You know—" Here he gave a pantomime of pushing obstacles aside. "I was like a bird in a cage. I had to get out."

MRS. KOSENKINA jumped into the consulate courtyard at 4:20 p. m. (Pottstown time). She landed enmeshed in the wires of a fence.

Police on guard outside leaped the fence to help her. They reached her just as consulate employees picked her up and carried her inside. Forty minutes later she was taken to the hospital.

Zenzinov, a journalist, described himself the past Saturday as the man who spirited the teacher away from New York and to a White Russian camp at Valley Cottage, N. Y., 30 miles north of the city.

Soviet officials took her from there Saturday. Their self-described "rescue" of her brought to light her story.

Zenzinov had to wait an hour at the hospital to see the teacher, while she recovered from effects of sedatives.

A witness to the meeting said she embraced the journalist, and that Zenzinov told her "the police and the U. S. government were behind her and that nothing could happen to her now."

ASKED IF he believed Mrs. Kosenkina had been held at the consulate against her will, which the Soviet have denied vigorously, Zenzinov replied with a shrug:

"What do you think—if a woman has to jump out of a window to get away?"

Mrs. Kosenkina's plunge to the consulate courtyard highlighted a day that saw these other events on the Russian front:

1. A demand in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that persons involved in the alleged White Russian "kidnapping" of Mrs. Kosenkina be punished and that Samarin and his family be turned over to Soviet authorities. Molotov's declaration was made before he knew of Mrs. Kosenkina's leap.

2. A demand by Rep. Karl Mundt (R-SD) of the House committee that Mrs. Kosenkina's leap be investigated fully as to whether "she jumped or was thrown," and that she be given around-the-clock protection.

3. An assertion by Common Cause, Inc., anti-Communist group, that the jump proved its "charge" was being held against her will. "The organization said it believed 'this heroic escape' of hers will convince the American government that the time has come to end the privileges and exaggerated diplomatic immunities behind which the hordes of Soviet officials have practiced espionage and subversion in America." Common Cause, before the teacher jumped, tried unsuccessfully to have her produced in court.

4. A statement by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), that the woman teacher's "tragic and dramatic escape" proves "the immediate necessity for action."

Deed to VFW Home Changes Hands

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—President Truman assailed the congressional spy investigation with new vehemence today, saying it was a "Red herring" with the strongest kind of smell.

He reiterated at a news conference his remark of the past week that the herring was being dragged across the trail to distract attention from Congress' failure to pass his anti-espionage program.

Meanwhile the House committee on un-American activities questioned behind closed doors a Russian school teacher, Michael Ivanovitch Samarin. It announced, however, that the questioning brought out no information "pertinent" to its inquiry into charges that wartime Communist spies had reached high into Washington officialdom.

However, the teacher declared publicly after the secret session:

"That he and his wife have renounced Soviet citizenship."

"That he wants to tell about the condition of the Russian people under the Soviet dictatorship."

"That he and his wife would be shot or sent to concentration camp for life if they were sent back to Russia."

CHAIRMAN THOMAS (R-NJ) announced that Samarin would be given every possible protection.

Samarin, like Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, was a teacher at a New York school for children of Russian officials.

Word that Mrs. Kosenkina had plunged from an upper story window of the Soviet consulate in New York today created a sensation in Washington, where these developments took place.

1. Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) of the House un-American activities committee announced that "preliminary steps" have been taken to prosecute some of the witnesses at committee hearings on charges of lying under oath.

2. The committee questioned Charles Kramer and Abraham George Silverman closely for two days yesterday afternoon.

TRANSFER OF THE deed is a prelude to claiming a liquor license for the post. The organization was required to submit the deed to the home association to the State Liquor Control board before the license can be issued.

The deed exchange highlighted a meeting mostly devoted to reports by delegates to two conclaves in the past two months.

Merrill S. Wien, Earl F. Antin and William reported on the 16th district conclave (Montgomery county) late in June and Smith G. McAllister, Melvin B. Krause, Wien, Antin and Williams were delegates to the state convention in Pittsburgh July 7.

Williams pinned the past commander's pin on Antin in recognition of service as commander during 1946 and 1947.

Forty members witnessed the ceremonies in the post's quarters.

THEY WERE THROWN out of a plane, flying 300 feet above the earth, with notices of Pottstown's price-slashing "Dollar Days" in effect all day today and tomorrow.

The airplane, flown from the Pottstown Municipal airport, was piloted by John J. Basco, airport manager, and co-piloted by Calvin Harp Jr.

Basco first flew over High and Hanover streets where one of the 60 bundles of certificates and advertisements was dropped to the waiting passersby.

Then, he flew to Stowe, over (Continued on Page Twenty)

TAVERN OWNER APPEALS ACTION OF LIQUOR BOARD

James Machain Seeks New Hearing, Approval Of License Transfer

An appeal from the decision of the State Liquor Control board refusing to transfer his liquor license, and a petition for a new hearing were filed yesterday for James Machain, former proprietor of the mid-town Wallace cafe.

The appeal and decision were filed with the Montgomery County court by Machain's attorney, Joseph L. Prince.

Primary grounds for the appeal were that Machain never had been cited before the Liquor Control board when he held a license at 12 South Hanover street, and that the board acted unconstitutionally in refusing to allow the transfer.

Machain first filed an application the past March 29 to transfer his liquor license from 12 to 102 South Hanover street.

At a HEARING June 17, a petition signed by 18 residents and property owners was presented by their attorney, C. Edmund Wells, before the board, attacking the proposed transfer. Local police officials testified to a series of disturbances at the Wallace cafe.

At the same time, Prince presented a petition signed by 43 men and women, approving the transfer.

On Aug. 5, the State Liquor Control board informed Machain that his application for the license transfer was refused.

At the June 17 hearing, Prince contended that the move was "no radical change, and will not be a detriment to the locale."

IN HIS PETITION and appeal filed yesterday, Prince asserted, "He was never cited before the Pennsylvania Liquor Control board, nor was there ever any complaint filed with the said board concerning your petitioner (Machain) or his conduct of the premises 12 South Hanover street, as a holder of the aforesaid restaurant liquor license."

Prince also averred that the proposed new premises met all the requirements of the act, and the regulations of the board, and that your petitioner is the only person, pecuniarily interested and that he is a person of good repute."

Two other points were the claims that the evidence submitted at the June 17 hearing was "entirely insufficient and did not warrant the action taken by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control board," and that the "unsatisfactory manner" of conducting the Wallace cafe, which (Continued on Page Twenty)

HOUSING COMMITTEES Schedule Meeting to Discuss Land Issue

A second joint meeting of the citizens' and borough council's housing committees will be held late next week.

Harold E. Binder, chairman of the citizens' group, announced at the meeting yesterday that he had checked land records in Norristown for local lots held for taxes.

These lots, it was agreed when the two groups met the past Aug. 3, would provide the cheapest source of ground for low-rent housing.

BINDER added that sewer and water facilities would have to be investigated on the tax-held land.

"If we have to go in there with sewers and water mains, it's going to cost too much," he pointed out.

As the second preliminary step in bringing low-rent housing to Pottstown, Binder and Allen E. Davidheiser, chairman of the council committee, will go to Philadelphia early next week to inspect housing project plans developed by the Philadelphia Housing authority.

Then, with reports on tax-held land and on plans for housing development, they will return to Pottstown.

As the final week of the camp comes to an end the campers will hold a bonfire tonight, ending the ceremonies with their flagpole formation.

Awards for their camp activities will be made by the counselors and directors.

A feature of the bonfire will be a candle-lighting rite.

All 100 will be lit from the bonfire by the counselors, and the boys and girls will be asked to save the candles until Christmas, when they may relight them to remind them of their Summer's fun.

Local Man's Home, In Process of Sale, Destroyed by Flames

Fire that had smoldered for a day or more in electric circuits burst out early yesterday, destroying the large stone home northeast of Geigertown that is owned and was occupied recently by Garth Herd, Pottstown commercial photographer.

No one was in the $10,000 home at the time, since Herd was in the midst of selling it to a photographer from Montclair, N. J., Fred Quellmaltz.

Herd had moved into the apartment above his studios at King and Penn streets.

Frank T. Reese, Norristown farm broker who was handling the transaction, said final settlement was expected to be made in Pottstown in about two weeks.

The Quellmaltz couple had been moving their household belongings gradually to their prospective new home, Reese said, bringing a load every weekend for the past month.

He added that the Quellmaltz loss included about $1500 in fine linens imported from Europe plus several thousand dollars worth of antiques and other furnishings.

The loss was covered by insurance that was more or less equally divided between Herd and Quellmaltz.

And though Walter McDugan, who lives nearby, telephoned firemen promptly after seeing the flames (Continued on Page Twenty)

Garbage Pickup System To Remain Unchanged

Pottstown's garbage collection system will continue unchanged for the present, but modification at the borough dump may be submitted to the Sept. 13 session of council for approval.

After a meeting last night of council's sanitary committee and the Pottstown board of health, compromises on the board's suggestion of the past Aug. 2 that garbage and trash be separated were reached.

The committee will hold its own meeting within the next three weeks. It was decided to form its recommendations to council.

One of these may include the banning of the use of borough dump on the property of Mayer Pollock to all collectors except George H. Dunn, the borough contract collector.

L. STANLEY MAUGER, assistant borough solicitor, told the committee and health board members, "We have exclusive control of the dump by a verbal agreement with the owner, and we can limit it to Dunn as an administrative procedure. It won't take an ordinance or resolution."

The matter came up at the health board meeting the past Aug. 2 when the board, deluged by complaints of the smoke and odor coming from the burning dump, heard Dunn explain how spontaneous combustion in the rotting garbage set off the apparently uncontrollable blaze.

Last night, Borough Manager Dow I. Sears told the group that a new pump, purchased by the borough for $300, had proved successful recently in keeping the blaze under control.

Dunn, who described how he had been badgered recently by residents near the dump, told the group that he himself paid men to guard it 24 hours daily, and to fight fires.

Mercury Goes Into 80s After Heavy Rainfall

More than an inch of rain fell on the area early yesterday and the mercury later huddled the 80-degree mark for the first time in ten days.

Even then, it only went to 81, but with the relative humidity reaching 70 percent, it could be felt.

The rains fell heavily before and after daylight leaving clouds for most of the remainder of the day. A weak sun broke through late in the afternoon.

The weather will turn cool again tonight, the weatherman predicted, after a partly cloudy day. Saturday will be fair.

Personalities in the News

Ferguson
SENATOR HOMER Ferguson (R-Mich) is mad at President Truman and recently has been spreading unparliamentary talk about Washington. Referring to Mr. Truman's refusal to give an investigation committee government records of loyalty, Ferguson barked:

"Congress is rapidly being pushed into the intolerable position of having either to legislate through a blind spot or compel the President to answer for his conduct in impeachment proceedings."

He was later rebuked by Southern Democrats—of all people—who came to the side of the President.

POLITICAL LEADER E. H. Crump, who saw his powerful Tennessee machine take a terrific beating in the recent primary, is a good loser.

"I'm sure we have no other ideas but to go right along with the non line unless their supporters see fit to get out an independent ticket against the regular Democratic nominees."

It was a hard pill for the once powerful machine boss to swallow. He blamed the state's sales tax and the labor vote for his stunning setback.

THE SOUTH is confident of victory. Not that it will receive the most electoral votes but that no candidate will and that the vote in the House of Representatives to choose the chief executive will result in a Dixiecrat victory.

Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi, who is the vice presidential candidate on the states rights ticket termed Truman "an acknowledged loser."

When Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said recently that there was no reason to get hysterical about a spy scare, he incurred the wrath of Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) who is serving on the House committee probing Red activities in the U. S.

Rankin shouted: "Instead of criticizing the committee, General Eisenhower could render a greater service by throwing his strength behind these investigations."

"Stalin and his henchmen have demonstrated that the only argument they respect must be spoken in terms of force."

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury

"Lucky" is a mild term for Pottstown area vacationers. "Kings of Good Fortune" would better fit them. Their postcards come in daily and no matter where they are or what they're doing, practically all say: "Having a nice, grand, swell, interesting time," invariably leaving off the "wish you were here."

As they look forward to their vacations they cross their fingers and pray: "Please God, let the weather be nice, let us get a good sun tan, don't let the expenses get too high."

Their prayers must be answered because the cards flow back and comment: "The weather is beautiful . . . perfect sunny days . . . ideal trip."

The fishing is always "good," never bad. The sights are always "interesting," never dull. The water is always "just right," never muddy or shark-infested. The boating is "fine," never dangerous or choppy. The scenery is always "breathtaking," never ugly or barren.

Is it just because the vacationers are away from home that everything seems just out of this world?

We're still waiting for a card from someone saying he's having a bum time.

Hope for Housing
POTTSTOWN, already sorely harassed by a housing shortage, faces a grimmer future. Because Congress failed to act on low rent housing, experts foresee a "serious slump in home building," beginning almost at once. Tightening of credit controls, in an economy where too few persons can meet down payments and carrying charges because prices are too high, will do much to hasten the slump, experts agree.

Even before the Federal Housing agency recently had to raise down payments from 10 percent to 20 percent of the value, many families who need housing had to drop out of the market. This drastic increase in the down payment will freeze out hosts of other potential buyers.

The situation has caused President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers to issue a warning that new housing may price itself out of the market "in a few years at the most." It has inspired the Federal Reserve Board to give a sharp word of caution over the mounting volume of mortgage loans, which have risen by $2,800,000,000 in the past six months to a new high mark of $32,800,000,000.

At the same time, the United Industrial Associates have found the price tag on the average house and lot to be $11,094, as compared with $9749 the past Summer and $4599 in 1939. This agency's survey showed an average upswing of 14.5 percent during the past 12 months.

Outside of government projects, nothing new is being built for the average veteran who can pay no more than $50 or $60 a month. For such a man the purchase of a modern house is out of the question.

The gloomy outlook has led many persons to give up hope that private industry will succeed in tapping the mass market for housing at an early date. It has led impartial observers more and more to the conclusion that adequate shelter for the families in the $3000 to $4000 bracket never again can be provided without substantial and continuing government assistance.

Pottstown's housing committee now is considering a paper program for low rent housing. The committee hopes this can be built by private investors with a small public subsidy—the price of the land. This committee's aggressiveness and its diligence will be dominant factors in the success or failure of the program.

'Start the Music'

THE Federal Communications Commission is reported to be about to tell the radio industry that it will have to stop those giveaway programs. From every viewpoint but one, it is an excellent idea.

As entertainment the programs rank even lower than the soap-operas that make the morning and early afternoon hours a continuous day-mare. Morally and culturally they reflect the decay of Western civilization that has Prof. Tynbee pacing the floor while waiting for the other shoe to fall on the floor of the apartment above. Politically they must be devastating instruments for rousing class consciousness between the haves and have nots.

When one individual, through no effort or merit on his or her part is suddenly the recipient of wealth beyond the dreams of avarice, some 140,000,000 Americans who didn't win the grand prize become potential sore-heads.

Some lucky stiff has just got a new automobile, a house-trailer, electric range, washing machine, milk coat, trip to Bermuda, chest of silver, year's supply of non-crunch breakfast food, life-size replica of the statue of Liberty and a year's free subscription to the Congressional Record. But 140,000,000 disappointed good, hard-working, thrifty citizens begin to wonder whether their faith in the American Way, fundamental justice and the precepts of Benjamin Franklin are justified.

The only objection to the FCC proposal is that legally they can't do anything about these Jack-ass Jackpots unless they are lotteries in fact. Unless the participants pay money or assume some obligation for the privilege of participating it is strictly legal. The FCC can't stop them unless the radio industry wants them stopped.

Maybe that's the answer. Maybe the industry realizes that these everything-for-nothing programs have got out of hand. Maybe the industry would welcome a sharp admonition from the FCC to:

"Stop the give-aways and start the music."

Stray Dogs Need No Protection

To the Editor: Dorothy K. ("Dogs to Be Considered, Too," Readers Say, Aug. 11) seems to be shouting from the rooftops: "Beware, mothers! Keep your brats in the house as the dogs of Pottstown are on the loose and will be protected!"

It is quite evident that Dorothy is not a mother, as she has placed more value on the life of a dog than on the life of an innocent child.

Remember, Dorothy, mothers have spent hours—countless hours—with their children and will continue to do so until the child has reached adulthood.

Did you think before you wrote or did you write in a fit of anger? I believe you did the latter.

A mangled arm is a serious thing. The child may be handicapped for life, not to mention the psychological effect it could have on the child.

I know the dog owner would pay all the medical expenses, but could he pay for the heartache and suffering both the child and the parents would undergo?

You know some of these attacks prove fatal. Would that be termed "another regrettable incident?"

Recently the dog owners were warned to keep their dogs in their own back yard. If they cannot heed this warning, the police should shoot any and every stray dog.

Be careful, Dorothy. Another outburst like that may be bad for your blood pressure.

A WORRIED MOTHER

Betrayed by Her Morals

To the Editor: If Mrs. F. B. ("Men Hunters Stayed Home," Readers Say, Aug. 11), thinks that women went into the armed forces during the war out of pure altruism and patriotism, and that other women went into factories just to get men, she's got about as lopsided a picture of the situation as anyone could have.

In the Army, Mrs. F. B., I met plenty of Wacs, and even a few Waves. Sure, some of them were fine girls—I suppose, but out of the morals and reputation of many others a kindly iron curtain of forgetfulness had best be drawn. To put it gently, they weren't above making the acquaintance of every man in sight, gen-

WASHINGTON

'Red Herring' Accusation Termed Fatal Mistake

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — President Truman's political mishandling of the Congressional investigation into alleged activities of government co-operators with a Russian spy ring during the war years is attributed by many of his friends to mept advice from his White House associates. It is generally believed that he made a fatal mistake when he referred to the House and Senate inquiries as a Republican "red herring."

As former chairman of one of the ablest and most constructive investigating committees on Capitol Hill, Mr. Truman must have realized that it is not wise to comment on their results until all the evidence has been submitted and sifted.

But he pursued the same strategy that Calvin Coolidge and his Republican allies did when they branded the Democratic Teapot Dome and Harry Daugherty investigations of 1924 as "mud gunners." That cynical attitude would have defeated Mr. Coolidge had it not been for the Smith-McAdoo brawl at Madison Square Garden.

DATA: Mr. Truman, according to Democrats who deplore his remarks, had only to say that he would await the conclusion of the hearings before making any comment on their motive or disclosures. He could also have permitted his executive officers to supply essential data to the Congressmen with the stipulation that it be thoroughly checked before any of the individuals involved be named.

This is the process followed by the Treasury, Internal Revenue and other agencies in tracking down gangsters, income tax violators and dealers in illicit narcotics. The government sleuths are permitted to use supposedly confidential data only as "leads" and must do their own checking before seeking indictments from a grand jury.

In short, there were several "outs" for Mr. Truman had he and his colleagues around the White House been smart enough to seize them.

POLITICS: The Truman consultants held chiefly responsible for the unwise remark are Clark Clifford, White House counsel; Samuel I. Rosenman, unofficial ghost writer and political instructor; and Attorney General Tom Clark. The latter's feud with F.B.I. Director Hoover over the Red expose also contributes to the President's dilemma.

As researcher, Mr. Clifford discovered that it had been the inviolable rule for Chief Executives to withhold certain information from Congress, although there are those who hold to the contrary. Former Judge Rosenman, who was responsible for Mr. Truman's announcement of a special session at the Democratic Convention, next urged him to deliver another attack on the legislative branch.

Behind the Rosenman tactics lay the belief that for Mr. Truman to surrender to Congress on the demand for personnel dossiers would be to destroy the illusion of a "new, defiant and aggressive" Democratic candidate. It might also create the impression that, contrary to his characterization of the Eightieth Session as "the second worst Congress," the legislators were not such a bad bunch after all.

In short, like so many other recent decisions of major importance, the "red herring" outburst was based on considerations of presidential politics, and the Truman trou thought they were making a smart play.

As for the women in war plants, many of them went in for a purely selfish motive all right, but it was to make money, not to make whoopee with the middle-aged welder in the next booth.

The armed services don't help anyone's moral standards, Mrs. F. B., but since women are so much more hypocritical about sex than men, they tended to drop more of their so-called inhibitions as soon as they put on a uniform.

Social Security Passed Up

To the Editor: After being in session about two weeks, our Congress has made a record that will be hard to beat.

They did not want to go home without doing something, so they passed the housing bill and a few others. But they did not do anything about increasing our social security.

The writer and his wife are receiving $45.69 per month from social security. I wonder how many Congressmen could live on that amount of money.

They had time to increase their salaries a few years ago but they are not interested in the poor man who wants to live without begging for food.

Shame, shame, shame on our Congressmen. They should bury their faces in sand.

No Hot Shot As a Builder

To the Editor: While I appreciated the spirit behind the letter to the editor of M.E.L. who suggested groups of veterans band together to build each other's homes, I think there is something wrong with the idea.

Look at it this way: Like most factory workers, I like the balance of eight hours of work for eight hours of pleasure. Or in other words my leisure time is worth to me almost exactly what I am paid for working, in my case $140 an hour.

Now M.E.L. suggests I spend my leisure time building my own home, helping and getting help from other factory men along the way. But, as a carpenter or bricklayer I am not worth even close to $140 an hour. It's all I can do to drive a nail straight.

In other words, I'm giving $140 worth

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

PERRY F., 29, is married to a business woman.

"Dr. Crane, I think I better seek a divorce," he telephoned me yesterday. "We aren't getting along very well."

"Sunday we quarreled off and on. As a matter of fact, it all began on Saturday night when I criticized a waiter at a night club and my wife grew irritated because she said I was making a scene."

"Well, on Sunday the quarrel went on. I finally told her she was a small town girl who was trying to be a big shot in the city, and then she slapped me."

"I didn't strike back, but I felt like it. She finally slapped me again, because she was so angry. Then she began to cry."

"We were pretty cool toward each other the rest of the day. She didn't say goodbye when I left Monday morning, but I called later and she was crying. Dr. Crane, do you think we can make a go of our marriage?"

PERRY HAS been married for two years, so this isn't the first time he has quarreled with his wife. Nor is it the first time he has called on me to tell him what I think of his marital chances.

Every time he gets into a row, he telephones and wants to know if I don't think he should get a divorce. And I let him talk till he gets his ire vented via speech, when he says I factually steer the conversation around to some of the compliments his wife paid him when she was last in my office.

I remind him of her beauty and her devotion; of the fact that she admires his intelligence and forcefulness, which are true statements and likewise put him into a different frame of mind.

He always leaves my office or ends our telephone conversation by deciding he has a fine wife.

"Do you know why your wife was irritated until she slapped you?" I asked Perry.

"Yes, she was angry at what I had said Saturday night."

But that wasn't the primary reason. She had felt affronted in her sexual vanity, for he hadn't admired her figure and kissed and caressed her enough.

Perry is a salesman who is away most of the week. When he gets home, she wants something besides chatter about his sales that week and the show to which he will take her on Saturday night.

When women crave physical affection which is not granted, they soon grow irritable. They begin to pick at their husbands and nag. Often these wives don't actually know what is wrong or why they become so irritable.

In fact, they become so conscience-stricken afterwards that they will break into tears. But "nagging" is woman's age-old method of trying to stimulate a man into laying hands on her.

of my leisure time and getting back only about 60 or 70 cents worth of labor. It's a bum deal.

M.E.L. is right about the need for low-cost housing. But it should, and can, be provided by borough loans or subsidies, not by plans that ignore the truth of the old saying—let the shoemaker stick to his last.

'It Was a Tough Fight, Pop . . .'

To The Editor: The course of modernization in this town is slow and full of obstacles, but finally it makes the grade.

I refer to council's action in approving automatic gates at the Pennsy crossing the other night. It's high time that the system of trusting the lives of pedestrians and drivers to superannuated watchmen, dozing in a shed, was halted.

Any way you look at it, an up-to-date machine is a lot more dependable than a human being.

Burning Rags Befoul Air

To the Editor: It certainly is most aggravating on these nice days we've been having to be closed up in the house. I am referring to the burning of old rags in the Seventh ward district.

I work all day, cooped up in a factory, and when I come home I like to enjoy a little fresh air. Instead, I have to close all the windows and doors and stay indoors to avoid this intense odor.

FRESH AIR LOVER

Still Blinded by Weeds

To the Editor: Several weeks ago I read in The Mercury where the borough was sending out notices to property owners, warning them to cut their tall weeds.

Some property holders either didn't receive notices or they haven't paid any attention to them. I refer particularly to some of the weed growths in the Ninth ward. The weeds have grown so tall on some vacant lots that they block the vision of cars approaching intersections.

Why doesn't our police chief get on the ball and enforce these orders as we suggested in an editorial? He certainly hasn't much else to do.

The role that James Mason is now playing in "Best Things in Life are Free" (formerly titled "Wild Calendar") was offered to Van Johnson and he turned it down! Now, fivers sake! WHAT kind of a part would allow that much leeway in casting??? Or is it an ad lib role? . . . They gave Louise Rainer an Academy Award once for her two minute scene on the telephone in "The Great Ziegfeld." Now the town is wondering what Barbara Stanwyck will get for her ninety minutes on the phone in "Sorry, Wrong Number!"

THE STORY, "FIRE" from the book by George Steward that Fox just bought for Linda Darnell, won't be made for a whole year . . . Joan Lynbrook, who is in "Every Girl Should be Married" with Cary Grant took the title seriously and wed Jim Robert, a law student the day the picture finished . . . We've known George a long time and know how little the Hollywood glitter and glamour as such means to him. Also that so long as he has a few pals around him — people can go jump in the lake with their parties! He has always turned them down for the "quieter life"—except for occasional night-clubbing, that is. But still, if ever the entertainment world was anyone's world, it's George's—and we hope he sticks around . . . Judy Canova made a talk to a high school class while on her recent tour and told the younger set, "Live your life so that you'll be proud to have Don Ameche play it some day!"

Underlying Factors For Milk Price Hikes Outlined to Grange

Manifold reasons for the skyrocketing prices of milk these days were outlined before members of the New Hanover Grange Wednesday night by Earl Bechtel, dairyman and visiting member of the Keystone Grange, Trappe.

His topic, "Three Angles of the Milk Situation," covered in detail the user, the handler, and the consumer.

Comparing the situation today against that of 1916, Bechtel brought out the fact that there were no dairy regulations, State inspections, and scientific methods of production in 1916.

THE HANDLER IN THE old days used an ordinary vat and farmers' cans. After icing-up the cans, he peddled the milk by dipping it out to consumers.

"Today," said Bechtel, "expensive modern equipment and farm conveniences, new regulations, inspections, and higher wages, has brought the cost of milk to a new high. In 1916 cows cost $40 per head and now they are from $350 to $400."

"Production costs now amount to $6.33 per hundredweight for 4 percent milk. In the Philadelphia area, the number of handlers has diminished from 700 in 1916 to 60 in 1948. The price of machinery is very high and hired help costs ten times as much for about half as much work."

Announcement was made during the grange meeting of the Pomona picnic to be held tomorrow at Montgomery County park. First and second degree initiations will be given at the Aug. 25 meeting. Two applications were received for membership.

THE EVENING'S literary program was arranged by Mrs. Adelaide Stringer, who recited a poem about the secretary's job and introduced other secretaries, Arthur J. Landis, and Mrs. Edith Borneman, visiting secretary from the Keystone grange. Mixed chorus selections were presented and Alfred Zvarek was heard in several violin solos. Howard Ziegler gave a talk.

Roger Moyer, grange master, presided.

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 12 (P)—The British sponsored Weltpresse reported today an entire company of Hungarian frontier police fled to the British zone of Austria yesterday.

Commission May Act On Milk Issue Today

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12 (P)—The State milk control commission marked time today on milk price increases pending the return here of Chairman H. N. Cobb.

Cobb presided during the day at a hearing at Brookville on a proposal to switch parts of the state-wide area to two others. He told a reporter there last night he plans to call a meeting of the commission to consider the price question when he reaches his office here tomorrow.

John J. Snyder and Charles J. O'Loughlin, majority members of the commission, have prepared orders boosting retail prices generally 1 1/2 cents a quart instead of the 2 1/2 cents originally proposed by the entire commission.

The chairman has differed vigorously with the other commissioners on the price issue, calling instead for a 2 1/2 cent increase.

WHILE THE LAW ONLY requires two of the three members of the commission to vote for price orders to make them effective, previous orders have been signed by all commission members.

Underlying Factors For Milk Price Hikes Outlined to Grange

Manifold reasons for the skyrocketing prices of milk these days were outlined before members of the New Hanover Grange Wednesday night by Earl Bechtel, dairyman and visiting member of the Keystone Grange, Trappe.

His topic, "Three Angles of the Milk Situation," covered in detail the user, the handler, and the consumer.

Comparing the situation today against that of 1916, Bechtel brought out the fact that there were no dairy regulations, State inspections, and scientific methods of production in 1916.

THE HANDLER IN THE old days used an ordinary vat and farmers' cans. After icing-up the cans, he peddled the milk by dipping it out to consumers.

"Today," said Bechtel, "expensive modern equipment and farm conveniences, new regulations, inspections, and higher wages, has brought the cost of milk to a new high. In 1916 cows cost $40 per head and now they are from $350 to $400."

"Production costs now amount to $6.33 per hundredweight for 4 percent milk. In the Philadelphia area, the number of handlers has diminished from 700 in 1916 to 60 in 1948. The price of machinery is very high and hired help costs ten times as much for about half as much work."

Announcement was made during the grange meeting of the Pomona picnic to be held tomorrow at Montgomery County park. First and second degree initiations will be given at the Aug. 25 meeting. Two applications were received for membership.

THE EVENING'S literary program was arranged by Mrs. Adelaide Stringer, who recited a poem about the secretary's job and introduced other secretaries, Arthur J. Landis, and Mrs. Edith Borneman, visiting secretary from the Keystone grange. Mixed chorus selections were presented and Alfred Zvarek was heard in several violin solos. Howard Ziegler gave a talk.

Roger Moyer, grange master, presided.

Rain Fails to Mar Week's Encampment By Borough Scouts

The joint encampment of Boy Scouts Troops 1 and 2, with Explorer Post, No. 3, all of this borough, at the Schiff Scout Reservation, Mendham, N. J., during the past week proved very successful, though, on several days, rain marred the program.

The 41 scouts, their leaders and scoutmasters, who left Boyertown Saturday, July 31, returned the past Sunday, tired but without accident to mar the outing which each enjoyed, despite the routing duties each were assigned.

The contingent included the following:

Troop leaders: Douglass Sell, camp director; Jack Kline, Richard Scheeler, Philip West, junior assistant scout master; Eugene Johnson, senior patrol leader, and Lester D. Gottshall, scoutmaster.

Woodpecker patrol: Richard Weller, patrol leader; David Steile, assistant patrol leader; Frank Fulmer, Frederick Koons, Gerald Boyer, Russell Pettijohn and Charles Haddad.

Flaming arrow: Robert Koons, patrol leader; Henry Johnson, assistant patrol leader; David Johnson, Darwin Schanely, James Beech, John Graver and Richard Schell.

Boblink: Thomas Burns, patrol leader; Richard Hagenbuch, assistant patrol leader; Carl Hagenbuch, Henry Stetler, Dennis Updegrave, Franklin Gottshall and Robert Schanely.

Robert Miller and Lee Henry, associate scouts of Troop 3, attended the camp for a stay of three days.

During the final campfire on Saturday night, tenderfoot badges were awarded by Douglass Sell. Order of the Arrow nominations included Eugene Johnson, Robert Reiff, Robert Koons and George Schwenk.

Great Salt Lake is fed by four rivers and numerous minor streams and has no outlet.

Fire Damages Truck In New Berlinville

Liberty Fire company, New Berlinville, battled 30 minutes last night to save the flaming delivery truck of Ray E. Nell, proprietor of Ray's tavern along Route 100 in New Berlinville.

The fire started at about 8:20 o'clock on Gulden's hill, a few blocks from Nell's home. The truck had run out of gasoline, and Nell filled it up. Its carburetor apparently flooded, the truck backfired and flames shot up through the cab floor.

Before the Liberty firemen could douse the last flames with water and chemicals, $150 damage was done to the cab. The motor was almost undamaged. The truck, which was towed away, was insured.

Dewey Manager Hints Truman for Stand On Spy Hearings

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell Jr., said today the people were "shocked" at the "attitude of President Truman in seeming to cover up" information Congress sought on Communist activities.

At a news conference after a long meeting with the Republican presidential committee on campaign strategy, Brownell also declared that the Democratic party "has fallen to pieces and its national leaders are stumbling."

Brownell said Dewey would wage "a vigorous, constructive campaign and will travel extensively."

He predicted that the New York governor and his vice-presidential running mate, Gov. Earl Warren, of California, would get "lots of help" in the November election from Democrats and independent voters.

BROWNELL TALKED to newsmen after conferring more than four hours with Dewey. Others present included J. Russell Sprague of New York City and Edwin F. Jaekle of Buffalo, who along with Brownell are Dewey's top political advisors.

Brownell said his statement that the people were "shocked, surprised and disappointed at the attitude" of Mr. Truman in the Communist matter was backed up by "reaction" from several sections of the country.

Brownell was referring to the Communist "spy" hearings conducted by Congressional committees to find out whether there has been infiltration of Communists into the Federal government.

Mr. Truman turned down a committee request for information on the loyalty check of a suspended government employee accused of dealing with a Communist agent.

Brownell said that in his opinion there was "much more intense interest" throughout the country in the spy investigations than in "anything else that has happened in Washington in the past three weeks."

U. S. Army Equipment Delivered in England

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Aug. 12 (AP)—Trucks, jeeps and other equipment for an estimated 3500 U. S. airmen temporarily based in Britain were unloaded today.

Most of the supplies were reported destined for the British RAF base at Burtonwood near Warrington, Lancashire. U. S. C-54 transport planes used on the Berlin airlift are serviced and checked there. An air ministry spokesman said there now were about 1500 U. S. Air Force officers and men at Burtonwood.

U. N. SHELVES
RED PLAN FOR
SLASH IN ARMS

Commission Votes, 9-2
Against Proposal; Cites
Uneasiness in World

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 12
(AP) — A United Nations commission decided today Russia's scheme for slashing the world's armaments cannot be put into effect under present international tension.

The vote in the 11-nation commission on conventional armaments meant shelving Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's ambitious plans for reducing the arms of all nations.
The ballot was 9 to 2 with Russia and the Soviet Ukraine dissenting.

"A system of regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces can only be put into effect in an atmosphere of international confidence and security," the commission concluded.

As examples of essential conditions, the U. N. body listed establishment of a world police force, agreement in international control of atomic energy and conclusion of the German and Japanese peace treaties.

THE COMMISSION was careful not to junk the program outright and agreed that planning should go ahead in preparation for the day when international confidence is restored. However, no further deliberations are expected before 1949.

Diplomatic observers viewed the decision as "assuring" that there would be no arms slashes until Russia and the western powers settle their major differences.

The arms commission was set up by the Security Council to put into effect the Russian scheme introduced before the 1946 general assembly by Molotov. No acceptable approach to the problem has been found during two years of conferences.

Some of the delay has been due to Russian insistence that the arms commission deal with all weapons, including atomic bombs.

The commission also decided that issue today. An 8 to 2 vote held that work should be confined to weapons not within the jurisdiction of the U. N. Atomic Energy commission.

Truman Orders Study
Of Airline Concerns
To Help Raise Funds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (P) — President Truman today stepped in to help the airline industry with its money problems.

He ordered a thorough financial study of the entire air transport industry to find the best way to finance both immediate requirements and long-term development.

The President acted after a conference with top officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the Civil Aeronautics board and the Budget bureau.

His order followed by one day
CAB call for an industry-wide meeting here Aug. 19 to study plans for passenger fare boosts and ways to cut operating costs.

THE GOVERNMENT considers a strong airline system vital to national defense and has aided in various ways, including mail subsidies.

But airlines recently have run into financial difficulties because of rising costs and declining revenue from passenger traffic. Several have asked permission to boost passenger rates, and for a hike in mail pay.

The Air Transport association, representing all major airlines, said operating costs have soared because of higher fuel prices, higher prices generally, and cost of replacing outdated planes with new and larger ships.

Broke Truce

A group of Arab irregulars, like those shown above, were charged by Jews yesterday with breaking the truce in Palestine when they blasted the Latrun pumping station, key to Jerusalem's water supply.

Arab Irregulars Blast Water Post
Near Jerusalem; Jews Rap Assault

TEL AVIV, Israel, Aug. 12 (P) — Saboteurs today blasted the Latrun pumping station, vital to Jerusalem's water supply. The government of Israel declared the act constituted a glaring breach of the United Nations truce, "fraught with the gravest consequences."

At Haifa, a United Nations spokesman said the blast had been reported to the U. N. Security Council at Lake Success as a truce violation by the Arabs. He said the Arab Legion was in control of the Latrun area and must be held responsible. The spokesman added, however, that a truckload of Arab "irregulars" had been seen near the station an hour before the blast.

(In Rome, Count Folke Bernadotte said "we think Arab irregulars are responsible for this crime.")

"I am very disappointed with this destruction," the U. N. mediator said. "I repeat once more that if I had received the United Nations guards—I only asked for 40 who would have guarded the place day and night—this would not have happened."

Bernadotte arrived in Rome en route to Geneva and Stockholm where he will attend the International Red Cross convention. In Geneva tomorrow he will confer with R. G. A. Jackson, U. N. assistant secretary general; Sir Ralph Cilento of the U. N. social affairs department; and Australian minister for external affairs Dr. Herbert V. Evatt.

The station had been held by the Arabs, but was placed in a "no man's land" yesterday.

'Big Jim' Folsom
To Quit Politics

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 12 (P) — Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama said he is quitting politics when he steps down as governor in January, 1951.

The recently married executive, famed in the past as "Big Jim" and "Kiss-in' Jim," said he would return to the insurance business at his home in Cullman, Ala.

Here to inspect Alabama National Guard troops at Fort Benning, he said in an interview.

"I don't want to grow old and be a broken-down politician. I want to get the political bug out of me while I still am young."

"I have always said I would never run for office after I am 40. Well, I'll be 40 in October."

Gen. Clay May Resign
Post, Newspaper Says

LONDON, Aug. 12 (P) — The New Statesman and Nation, moderate left-wing weekly, speculated tonight Gen. Lucius D. Clay may resign as American military commander in Germany because of differences with the State department.

Clay advocated pushing an armed convoy through to Berlin to break the Russian blockade, the periodical said.

Allies May Seek
Stalin Intervention
If Berlin Talks Fail

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Diplomatic informants said today that if the western envoys fail to reach agreement on the Berlin crisis with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov they will probably ask Prime Minister Stalin to intervene.

Meanwhile it was disclosed that British foreign office legal experts are drafting a statute for control of the Ruhr by the six powers who are sponsoring formation of a provisional government for Western Germany.

Planning for such control of Germany's key industrial area—with Russia left out—and for a separate West Germany government are two aspects of the western powers' German policy which Russia has attacked most fiercely.

Soviet leaders have emphasized that in any new big four consultations, such as western diplomats are trying to arrange in Moscow, they will demand both the halting of the plans for a west German government and a voice in control of the Ruhr.

BRITISH OFFICIALS were reluctant to define principles guiding their approach to the Ruhr statute, sought by Britain, France, the United States, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands.

A foreign office spokesman said the document, when complete, will be "unprecedented in history because it vests economic control of a territory in a group of foreign states."

He stressed the statute will be "purely provisional, in the sense that the London agreement to set up the west German government, of which it is a part, is an emergency step being taken pending achievement of all-German unity."

Burning Swedish Ship
Is Towed Into Port

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (P)—Still spouting smoke, the Swedish freighter Axel Salen was towed to an anchorage in the lower harbor today after her crew, Coast Guardsmen and fire boats battled a stubborn blaze in her cargo hold most of the night.

She caught fire down Chesapeake Bay about 12 miles, just after leaving here with a cargo of sodium phosphate, cotton goods and fertilizer for San Francisco and the Orient.

Most of the fire was in No. 2 hold, where the sodium phosphate was stored. The cause has not yet been determined. No one was hurt.

Backfires

Salem, O., women are shown above picketing a butcher shop in protest to high meat prices but officials announced yesterday that the boycott is making prices jump, rather than bring them down.

Campaign Against High Meat Costs
Boomerangs as Prices Are Jumped

SALEM, Ohio, Aug. 12 (P)—Salem's meat strike apparently has backfired and instead of lower meat prices, housewives here face the prospect of paying more or doing without their Sunday roasts.

A spot check today showed wholesale meat distributors and sellers at district beef auctions are expecting increases as a result of the telephone campaign urging housewives not to buy meats until prices come down.

One distributor told the Salem News, "Farmers with beef cattle ready for marketing are apparently withholding their products in the face of the lack of a consumer market. This has resulted in an actual increase, of a few cents at least, in beef prices at auctions. The shortage, consequently, is actually becoming worse because of the non-selling attitude of farmers in this area."

Publicity and talk created by the phone campaign is frightening farmers from putting their cattle on the block, the distributor opined.

Much of Pisa, Italy, was demolished during World War II but the Leaning Tower was only slightly damaged.

BRITAIN, RUSSIA

English Demand Reds
Prove Claim for Voice
In Contest of River

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 12 (AP)—Britain demanded today that Russia prove her claim of being a Danubian country, with direct territorial interests in the future of Europe's most important river.

British Ambassador Sir Charles Peake raised the issue as the outnumbered western powers attempted to block a Soviet plan which would place future control of the river in the hands of Eastern Europe's Communist states.

Russia has proclaimed herself—along with Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and the Soviet Ukraine—as one of the riparian countries (those on the river) entitled to exclusive jurisdiction over the 1900-mile waterway.

Waving a small scale map of Eastern Europe, Peake said he could discover no point at which the Danube touches the soil of Russia proper, although the river does touch the Ukraine, a part of the Soviet Union.

PEAKE CALLED upon Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to supply a reason why Russia, under the Soviet plan, should be entitled to two seats—her own and the Ukraine's—on the proposed Danubian control commission.

Vishinsky said in reply: "I don't know what Sir Charles has, but certainly I have never seen any map which shows Britain on the Danube."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Unforgettable Thanks
Can you remember the first time you ever bid and made the highest possible contract — 7-No Trumps? Can you also remember the first time you ever consciously developed and executed a squeeze play? Most bridge players — even veterans of many years experience — can recall such thrills, and recall them clearly. Suppose it happened also that one of your opponents had done something which made both of those thrills possible on the same deal. Wouldn't you have unforgettable thanks toward him?

South said later that he would have bid the grand slam anyway, but in hearts, if North had shown no kings in response to the Blackwood 5-No Trumps. As it was, he got into the maximum contract and with aid from West made it.

The spade 4 was the lead. Before playing any, South counted. Six tricks in hearts, two in spades, two in diamonds and one in clubs made only twelve. A winning club finesse could make the needed thirteenth, but the double marked that as a loser. Necessity being the mother of invention, South definitely planned a squeeze for the first time in his life. Its format was to have, when the last heart was led, the diamond 9 and club J, and in the dummy the diamond K-10 and club Q. Then, if West held the diamond Q-J and club K—as was probable from his double—he would be squeezed.

That's just the way it worked out. Three times in spades, the minor aces and then the heart tricks were run. When the last was led, West was stuck. If he discarded the club K, the Q would become good. So he threw off the diamond J. The club Q was then shed from dummy, the diamond 9 was led to the K, dropping the Q, and the diamond 10 took the final trick.

The happy declarer, who remembers this deal from nearly two decades ago, is Halsey Raines, now a brilliant public relations man with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion pictures. But please don't ask who it was that doubled him.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Quarreling Parents Have Effect on Child, Doctor Tells Conclave

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—A doctor gave this tip to quarrelsome parents today: Stop bickering if you want your child to grow up without an excessive sense of guilt.

By all means don't use his love for spite. You may make him a criminal.

Dr. John Rickman of London, president of the British Psycho-analytic society, handed out the advice in a conference on medical psychotherapy, part of the International Congress on Mental Health.

A child feels guilty to begin with, he said. This is because hate for his parents is mixed with love. The specialists call this instinctive mixture of hate and love "ambivalence."

"IT IS HARD for a child to grow up in a broken home or a potentially broken home without acquiring an added burden of guilt," Dr. Rickman said.

"Because of its ambivalence the child always feels some responsibility, unconsciously, for a broken home. A home is a potentially broken one if one parent uses the child's affection as a weapon of offense or defense against the other parent.

"In a word, the child needs to see in its parents people who respect each other and can get along well together; this helps him to overcome his ambivalence and it diminishes his ever active guilt."

Later in life, said Dr. Rickman, people reach in various ways to such guilt. Some draw within themselves. Some turn into sexual perverts. Some get interested in religion or charity. And some become criminals because they feel guilty and want to be punished.

Pennsylvania Books Reviewed at Meeting Of Local Book Club

After a brief discussion of Egyptian literature, by Mrs. Adam Saylor, chairman of the Literature committee of the Book club of the Woman's club, reviews on Pennsylvania fiction and books pertaining to Pennsylvania were given on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Harry Tinkler Jr., Bechtelsville RD 1.

"One Red Rose Forever," by Mildred Jordan, the story of Henry W. S. Stiegel and the origin of the Stiegel glassware, was reviewed by Mrs. Saylor. The locale is centered around the Reading area and Philadelphia. Pottstown is also mentioned at several points in the book.

Mrs. Walton Merkel reviewed the book, "Poof Man's Doctor," by Lewis Tryon, MD, from Hamburg. It is an autobiography of the doctor's life and work in and around Conshohocken just before the first World War. The reviewer told the members how Dr. Tryon always felt ashamed to ask for more than fifty cents when he called on his patients.

THE ENTIRE CLUB entered into a discussion of the book, "Unconquered," by Neil Swanson, which had Pennsylvania as its setting. It was announced that the book, "Toward the Morning," by Hervey Allen, author of "Anthony Adverse," will be reviewed at the September meeting if it can be obtained by that time.

A covered dish social was enjoyed and the members were told that Chinese literature will be discussed at the Sept. 8 meeting. Books by Russian authors and pertaining to Russia also will be discussed.

American Yachtmen Sweep Olympic Honors at London

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—America's gentleman sailors mopped up the Olympic yachting honors, usually an European monopoly, today but managed to send only one man into the finals of the boxing tournament the U. S. was expected to dominate.

This surprising turnabout featured the next-to-last day of heavy competition in the weary, puffing 1948 London games.

United States yachtmen won the overall championship in the Olympic regatta with two firsts, a second and a third in the five classes and atoned for their complete shutout in 1936 when the Star Spangled Banner never once rang out over the bay.

The Llanoria, handled by a five-man crew from Oyster Bay, N. Y., captured the international six meter championship, biggest of them all, and a father-son team, Paul and Hilary Smart of Noroton, Conn., finished on top in the two-man star class.

THE RESOUNDING American success, at Torquay, however, was not duplicated at the Empire Exhibition poolhouse where only welterweight Horace Heffring, of St. Petersburg, Fla., was able to bask his way into the boxing finals.

The 24-year-old Navy steward's mate scored a decision over Doug Du Prez of South Africa. He meets J. Torma of Czechoslovakia in the final tomorrow night. Lightweight Wallace Smith of Cincinnati was derailed by J. Vissers of Belgium on a decision in the semi-finals.

THE OTHER TWO Americans

U. S. Athletes Beat British Empire in Traditional Meet

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The U. S. Olympic track and field team defeated a British Empire squad, 11½ to 3½, today in the dual meet which traditionally follows the games, scoring one of the most decisive triumphs since the series began in 1920.

A crowd of more than 40,000 at White City stadium watched the Americans grab the top three places in six of the eight individual events on a program topheavy with relay races.

Although the British won only three of the 15 men's events outright and tied in another, one of their victories made up for all the losses. That came in the 440-yard relay when an Empire quartet strengthened by two Australians galloped away from the U. S. team which won the disputed Olympic 400 meter relay final.

THE EMPIRE sprint team was made up of John Bartram and John Treloar, both of Australia, and Alastair McCorquodale and Jack Archer, both of England.

The Americans used Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., Lorenzo Wright of Wayne University, Harrison Dillard of Baldwin, Wallace and Mel Patton of Southern California, the same combination which first was disqualified after its Olympic triumph and then reinstated on the strength of the official movies.

Bartram made up ground on Wright and a poor American exchange of the baton put Dillard at a disadvantage. Archer came home ahead of Patton by almost five yards in 41.8 seconds.

Demaret, Ransom Share Lead in St. Paul Tourney

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 12 (AP)—A pair of surprising 57s, something that wasn't figured to happen, boosted Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Henry Ransom, Ravinia, Ill., into a first-day lead in the $13,500 St. Paul Open golf meet today. Because heavy rains had promoted heavy growth of grass, the boys weren't supposed to assault par of 72 very easily. But Demaret and Ransom proved otherwise.

The happy-go-lucky Californian was the first to shoot his 67, thus taking much of the attention of the gallery of 4000 away from Lloyd Mangrum, the heavy money winner from the past week's Tam O'Shanter. Mangrum got a 69 on his first round today.

Knotted one stroke behind Demaret and Ransom were three other professionals — Ky Laffoon, St. Andrews, Ill.; Otto Greiner, Baltimore, Md., and Bill Nary, Phoenix, Ariz.

Tied at 69 with Mangrum, who shot a 35-34, were Bog Fretland, Edinburg, Minn., who was the low amateur for the day and five pros. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, Albuquerque, N.M.I. came in with a three under par 33 after a par 36 going out to join Johnny Bulla, Phoenix, Ariz.; Al Smith, Winston Salem, N.C.; Pat Wilcox, Waterloo, Ia., and Ellsworth Vines, Iowa City, Ia.

$2125 Pledged for Agriculture Building At Norco; Association Picks Officers

The Coventry Agriculture association elected officers Wednesday night and accepted $2125 in cash and pledges for the proposed agriculture department building the association plans to erect for Norco High school.

John Kreps, elected chairman of the group, told 25 members meeting in the school, that work on the structure may begin by Fall.

Members agreed, however, not to start putting up the concrete block walls of the 80 by 30-foot one-story building until two-thirds of the $10,000 deemed necessary for completion has been collected.

Paul Austin, designer, told the meeting that the building would house a farm shop, class room and lockers and would be situated about 50 feet from the north side of the school building.

When finished the building will probably be jointly owned by the association and the school. Agricultural students at the school will have a hand in the construction work.

Members were told that the building would not only be used by students at the school, but by young and adult farmers in night classes.

The farm shop will be equipped with farm machinery repair tools, welding apparatus and hand and power tools.

The idea for the new building was conceived in March, 1947. Since that time the association worked with the school board to bring the notion to fruition.

AGRICULTURE STUDENTS are now taught class room subjects in a 9 by 16-foot room and learn their machinery work in the industrial arts shop which has no facilities for instruction of farm machinery repair.

Nineteen students were enrolled in the agriculture department the past term and 25 were expected this fall.

Other officers are Leonard Bauman, vice-chairman; Neal Burtner, secretary; treasurer, and Cuthbert Nairn, Homer and Earl Stoltz and Earl High, representatives.

Harmonica, Guitar Player Entertains Rotary Club

Jose Reed, harmonica and guitar player and singer, entertained 37 members of the Pottstown Rotary club last night with Spanish and popular songs.

The performer played his instruments and sang simultaneously, making for a somewhat unconventional performance.

Rotary President S. Ernest Kulp was in charge of the business meeting.

Women Sponsor Variety Program At Norco Grange

The first half of a battle of the sexes took place during the North Coventry Grange meeting last night when the ladies arranged and directed a variety program strictly from the feminine angle.

Next week, the men will try their hand and attempt to put on a better program.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Satterwaite, of Brandywine Grange, West Chester, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lanning, Honeybrook Grange, were judges of last night's performances.

Entertainment opened with a song by the grange women, followed by a flute solo by Phyllis Kulp.

The program continued with table center piece arrangements, favorite recipes, a duet by Marilyn and Marjorie Berrier, a musical reading by Mrs. Jessie Spicher, and a skit entitled "Vitamin Q" in which the actors were Betty Yocom, Mary Walters, June Kulp, Arlene Walters, Isabelle Roseward, and Ruth Schenck.

A BOOK REVIEW was presented by Mrs. Alma Stauffer, and a rural life topic called "Rural Recreation" was given by Mrs. Clara Kerlin.

During the business session, over which Grange Master Mrs. C. Rudolph Kulp presided, the members endorsed the building plans of the new North Coventry agriculture center. Subscriptions for the financing of the structure began several months ago and now amount to approximately $200.

Some grange members have offered to contribute their services toward completion of the building. Various tradesmen will perform the
